

What NOT to Do if Police Confront You

1. Don't say anything to the Police when they stop and question you, except your name, address and "I want to speak to my attorney."
2. Never grant permission for them to search your vehicle.
3. Never admit you were doing something wrong.
4. Never give any answer to the question: "Is there a reason why you were speeding?" Anything you say except: "I wasn't" . . . is admitting speeding and saying why you were doing it. You can say, "I wasn't" and still be safe. They will take down anything else you say and try to use it against you in court.
5. If you are stopped and have had ANYTHING to drink, do not take a breathalyzer. We recommend not doing the field sobriety tests as well. Don't admit having anything to drink.
6. Ask for your attorney and keep asking until we arrive.
7. As soon as the lights on the patrol car are turned off, and you are free to leave, contact us. Waiting until the last possible moment ties our hands, puts us on the defensive, and will cost you more money.

We have a $50.00 late fee if you bring us a citation within 2 business days of the appearance date.
